Christian Science Practitioners (CS) and Teachers (CSB)

The people who advertise as Christian Science practitioners (CS) in this Directory devote their full time to helping others through Christian Science, as explained in Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. They are experienced in the healing ministry of Christian Science and available to give metaphysical treatment through prayer. Practitioners can work with individuals in person or remotely, so feel free to reach out to anyone, even if they aren't in your area. Learn more about practitioners and Christian Science treatment at christianscience.com/practitioners.

A Christian Science teacher (CSB) is a practitioner who is authorized to teach Primary class instruction—an in-depth opportunity to learn more about Christian healing as explained in Science and Health. Learn more about Primary class instruction at christianscience.com/primaryclassinstruction.

Christian Science practitioners and teachers are self-employed and can provide you with their fees and payment details upon request.

Christian Science Military Chaplains

Christian Science military chaplains are officers on active duty with the US Armed Forces in the continental United States and in countries where there are US military operations. They provide Christian Science support to fellow Christian Science service members, including assistance with religious accommodation. They perform or provide for the religious needs of all service members regardless of religious background. They answer questions and address misunderstandings about Christian Science within the military and respond to requests for prayerful support.

Christian Science Nurses

The people who advertise in these pages are experienced Christian Scientists who are prepared to provide spiritual reassurance and skillful practical care to those choosing to receive Christian Science treatment through prayer for healing. Christian Science nursing includes assistance with personal care and bathing, meeting cleansing/bandaging needs, assistance with mobility, preparation and modification of food, and other activities that meet the patient's needs. It does not include diagnosis or medical treatment such as medication or physical therapy, or material remedies of any sort.

Fees are set individually by each Christian Science nurse, so please discuss payment with any Christian Science nurse you contact. Feel free also to ask for references. Learn more about Christian Science nursing, including a Scope of Services at christianscience.com/christiansciencenurses.

Christian Science nurses who are available to travel will have one or more travel icons in their advertisements.

Accredited Christian Science Nursing Facilities / Organizations

Christian Science nursing facilities are organizations where an individual's desire to rely on Christian Science treatment for healing is upheld by the spiritual reassurance and practical, physical care given by Christian Science nurses. Visiting Christian Science Nursing Services employ Christian Science nurses to provide care in homes for short visits, usually a few hours or less.

Each of the organizations listed in this section is not for profit, independently operated, and accredited by The Commission for Accreditation of Christian Science Nursing Organizations/Facilities, Inc. You can find more information about each organization at the Commission's website, csncommission.org. Each organization sets its own fees. Please contact the organization directly for information about services, fees, and payment options.

Christian Science Church Services and Reading Rooms

Join us for services at a Church of Christ, Scientist, or Christian Science Society. Everyone is welcome to attend. We also offer Sunday School classes for children and young people up to the age of 20. In some areas where there isn't a church or society, Christian Science informal groups come together for public worship and mutual support. Each branch church or society is governed independently and democratically by its members in accordance with its own bylaws. Learn more about church services and Sunday School: christianscience.com/services.

In a Christian Science Reading Room, visitors can find a quiet place to ask questions, study, think, and pray as they explore a variety of resources to deepen their understanding of spiritual healing based on Christ Jesus' ministry. These resources include the Bible, all of Mary Baker Eddy's writings, The Christian Science Monitor, as well as articles and testimonies by people actively practicing and applying Christian Science in their lives today. A Reading Room is a place to find answers and get inspired. In this space, people have been healed by studying the lessons of the Bible and nurturing their connection with God.

College and University Organizations

University or college life can be an exciting new chapter with lots of opportunities for growth. Christian Science Organizations (CSOs) are a great way to connect with other like-minded thinkers at your university. CSOs come in all shapes and sizes, but they have one common goal: to have a healing impact on the world around them. Learn more about CSOs at christianscience.com/cso.

If you have questions, contact the CSO Support Team at CSOsupport@csp.com.

Committees on Publication

Christian Science Committees on Publication work to correct misconceptions about Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, and its members' healing practice. This work requires spiritual readiness and healing prayer, and may include communicating with the media, academics, government officials, religious groups, and healthcare professionals.

Learn more about the work of the Committee on Publication at christianscience.com/committee.

You can also contact the Committee in your jurisdiction (country, province, state) or the Office of the Manager at ComManager@csp.com.
